Alumni Clinical Congress

2:00 p. m., Sunday, March 12, 1933

WHITE MEMORIAL DISPENSARY

Last month's "Journal" told of the Alumni Clinical Congress. In this issue we find a tentative program which will answer many inquiries which have been coming to the Alumni Office. This program is not final, so any suggestions will be appreciated. Inasmuch as this is the first Clinical Congress we have had, it will probably not go as smoothly as if we had had many before. Nevertheless, it is being as well organized as possible, and everyone will have plenty to see and to learn. It will be well worth the one dollar registration fee, especially when this dollar includes the buffet supper for the one who is registered. It will cost only fifty cents for each lady, i. e. for those who do not attend the clinics. Dinner tickets for the latter will be available at the time of registration.

There will be a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary at 2:00 p. m. in the basement of Paulson Hall. This will be followed by a social gathering and games in the same place. Inasmuch as Mrs. Marvel Beem, Chairman of the Ladies' Auxiliary Program Committee, is arranging for these, it is certain that every one will have an enjoyable time. The evening program, in which the Ladies' Auxiliary will also take part, will be held in the cafeteria during and immediately after the buffet supper.

With this "Journal" you will find a card for your reservation. Please send it in immediately as the accommodations in the Cafeteria are limited and it is necessary to plan definitely on the number who are to be present. Besides your reservation, put on the card the subject you wish to discuss at the Round-Table, as listed on the program. This will be under the direction of Telsa C. Nicola and will provide time for several alumni to give five minute presentations of subjects which will be interesting and instructive to the rest of us.

The twelfth of March is almost here, so send the reservation card in now.

Roger W. Barnes, M.D.

Mukden, Manchukuo

We have been transferred from the Shanghai Sanitarium Clinic to Mukden and are now bending our energies toward opening the Shen Yang Sanitarium and Hospital. Everything will be ready within a few days, but it remains a question as to whether we can open before next spring. The outlook for opening at the beginning of a cold winter appears rather forbidding. We have recently opened city offices which would not appear too humble even to our Alumni members in the homeland, but we are certainly in dire need of funds. As yet, we have no X-ray. Our equipment in other lines is very meager, and we are in debt to the Mission.

We have recently admitted a training class of ten nurses who are beginning their course of study at the Shen Yang Clinic. The class consists of four Russians and six Chinese. In spite of lack of equipment, we are doing some good work in the clinic. Dr. Vinkel spends his time there running the dispensary and hospital and I help some. Fully one-half the cases are surgical. We are doing everything possible to get acquainted with the better class of people in the city. Most of the population consists of Chinese and Japanese. However, there are about seven hundred Russians, a few Germans, Britishers, Americans, Jews, and others.

The most wonderful help to our work here would be a suction machine which could be used for tonsil work. Such a one is shown on page 192 of the Western Surgical Supply Company's catalog which we brought to Shanghai with us in 1930. The next great need is a post cautery, and the third is instruments and accessories which are made by V. Mueller and Company, of Chicago, and especially used by Dr. DeLee in obstetrical work. We were pretty well equipped in Shanghai, but since coming up here, we have had to start all over again.

Usumbura, Urundi, East Africa

From our mission we can look to the north of us and see old Karissimbi with its snow-cap every day. Next to it is the steep, precipitous crater, Mikeno, then the large volcano, Nyragono, which always pours its volume of smoke and steam on to the west. Our location is really one of the finest in all Africa for climate, view, gardens, and people.

Our medical work is very new here as it has only been a year since I came and pitched my tent on this hill. However, since our new buildings are up and partly ready for use, I am commencing to do some surgery. I used to say when in private practice that varieties of cases came in 3's. They do here, too. My first three surgical cases were attempts at correcting long-standing deformities at the knee joint due to yaws with muscular contractions which have made the patients go about on their hands and feet in a squatting position. Then within three months I had two broken backs to treat. One patient is up and about now, but the other had a total paralysis of one arm and everything below the ribs and was taken away by unavoidable complications. I am expecting the third most any day!

These nice new buildings make me very anxious to get this surgical work going, but I have no help other than raw untrained natives and it is hard to struggle along with such assistance. We are praying for a nurse. If I had only the surgical work to do, it would not be so hard to get along, but when I must spend the necessary time, thought and energy to examine and prescribe for or treat an average of ninety to one hundred patients a day, surgery without a nurse's aid is very difficult. I do not have the time to study my patients and give them the best of care. If we were only equipped with the necessary assistance, we could soon have one of the largest medical works in all Africa.

Did You Know That

Clarence F. Ball, A.M.M.C., '02, of Rutland, Vermont, writes: "Certainly appreciate receiving the Journal, especially so since it contains items of the old American Medical Missionary College members. It seems good to read of the whereabouts of many of my old friends long lost track of. It is also interesting to learn of the activities of the Medical School that ultimately superseded it in our medical missionary efforts throughout the world." We appreciate Dr. Ball's generous check!

W. Ansel Jones, '32, writes: "My address is now Lamont, Oklahoma. This small town, which is about forty miles northeast of Enid, is in a good diversified farming district. Wheat is the main crop, but there is considerable alfalfa, corn, watermelons, and other truck farming."

Guy U. Frederickson, '24, of Lake Lillian, Minnesota, says: "I am sending a check for my dues. Surely appreciate the Alumni Journal."

Joe S. Haskell, '31, is sending his California and Western Medicine Journals to Jacob Janzen, '31, of Northeast Rhodesia.

Roxy Zuberbier, '33, has the distinction of being the first woman intern at the San Bernardino County Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Claude Steen, '18, have had the privilege of seeing every housekeeper they have employed since the doctor's graduation from medicine become a Seventh-day Adventist.

Adrian E. Clark, '21, formerly of India, has become associated with Dee M. Rees, '25, of Monterey Park, California, in the practice of medicine.

David M. Kindopp, '30, of Colfax, is assistant surgeon at the new Placer County Hospital at Auburn, California.

John Redell, '32, is taking care of Lewis Bolander's practice at Van Nuys, California. Dr. Bolander is recovering from his serious illness and has returned to his home from the Glendale Sanitarium.

Mrs. Fay Nelson is secretary of the Placement Bureau and all mail relative to that department should be directed to her.

LADIES' AUXILIARY

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary for March 1 has been postponed till March 12. While the doctors are in Clinical Congress at the Dispensary, the Ladies' Auxiliary will meet at David Paulson Hall. The wife of every alumnus of the C.M.E. and A.M.M.C. is urged to be present. Space will not permit us to tell about the delightful afternoon and evening planned. Come and meet with us.

The Commissary Department is in great need of food and clothing. Bring what you can.

Mrs. L. D. Trott, President.

The Alumni Journal is accepting advertisements and business announcements for publication. The cost is $1.00 per column inch. It pays to advertise!

Melvin A. Drake, '31, has been transferred from the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home to the Soldiers' Home at Fort Harrison, Helena, Montana.

Forrest E. Bliss, '33, plans to return to the Mountain Sanitarium, Fletcher, N. C., after completing his internship at the White this summer.

The first class graduated from the A.M.M.C. in 1899 with 24 members. In the thirty-four years intervening, only six members have passed away. Of the others in this class, the addresses are known for all but Lillian B. Boyer and Louise Patterson.

Dr. and Mrs. C. Lawrence Pohle, and Dr. and Mrs. Wesley S. Smith, '33, visited Alfred J. Cooper, '25, of San Diego, and Harold W. Pfeiffer, '30, of La Mesa, on February 17.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Dale, '30; Dr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Huenergardt, '31; and Drs. Harold and Jean Boyd, '32, and '31, are receiving wedding congratulations.

Albert M. Bond, '29, has opened offices at 103A North Brand, Glendale, California.

C. F. Schilling, '25, of Bengal, India, is planning to take postgraduate work in Vienna in General and Gynecological Surgery starting in June. Dr. Schilling says: "God is blessing the work here in Jalirpar in a very definite way. We are of good courage and trust this finds all well at the White."

Irving W. Kellogg, '31, has located at Perris, California.

Clinton J. Sevener, '31, formerly of Mulliken, has taken over the practice of a doctor at Charlotte, Michigan.

The Alumni treasury is practically depleted, and the Alumni Board is wondering how to continue to publish the Journal, conduct the Placement Bureau, assist in the under-graduate work of the school, et cetera, for the balance of the fiscal year. If those who have not paid dues would do so, and the Association could get a number of sponsors, also, it would be able to continue in a good strong way until July 1, 1933, when dues for the new fiscal year will be payable.

The Alumni Office was glad to receive a letter, which accompanied a check for dues, from Leroy M. White, '14, of St. Elizabeth's Government Hospital, Washington, D. C.

William J. Eckerle, '22, of Wilmington, California, has boosted the number of sponsors for his class to five!

A little baby girl was born to Dr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Hunnicutt, '32, at the White on the anniversary of George Washington's birthday.
